

Looking for a new career?

Learn to create websites and applications that will make a positive impact in your community!

Code for Progress is accepting applications for its 2015 Fellowship!!
Apply at www.codeforprogress.org

- 12-month, full-time fellowship starting June 2015
- Receive a stipend to cover some expenses
- Learn skills that can lead to a high-paying job
- No prior coding experience necessary

Text CODE to 83224 for more information

About Code for Progress

The Code for Progress fellowship starts with a three to five month residency in the District of Columbia. Participants are trained in coding and human centered design and mentored by talented local professionals. By intentionally removing barriers to technological training for women and people of color, Code for Progress cultivates a growing community of diverse professionals who have the technical skills and cultural competency to bring innovation to nonprofits, government, and the private sector.

Deadline to apply is March 31st